Advocate for the respondent

ORDER

1. The present complaint dated 17.09.2021 has been filed by the complainants/allottees in Form CRA under section 31 of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (in short, the Act) read with rule 28 of the Haryana Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Rules, 2017 (in short, the Rules) for violation of section 11(4)(a) of the Act wherein it is inter alia prescribed that the promoter shall be responsible for all obligations, responsibilities and functions to the allottee as per the agreement for sale executed inter se them.

2. Since, the buyer's agreement has been executed on 10.04.2013 i.e. prior to the commencement of the Act ibid, therefore, the penal proceedings cannot be initiated retrospectively. Hence, the authority has decided to treat the present complaint as an application for non-compliance of statutory obligation on part of the promoter/respondent in terms of section 34(f) of the Act ibid.

B. Facts of the complaint

4. The complainants made the following submissions in the complaint:

- i. That in the year 2013, original allottee namely, Mr. Hemant Arora, learned about the project in question through marketing representative of the respondent. Believing upon the claims and assurances provided by the representative on behalf of the respondent, the erstwhile allottee booked a unit bearing no. GGN-23-1001, measuring 1650 sq. ft. for a total sale consideration of Rs.1,08,70,400/- in the said project and paid an advance booking amount of Rs.7,50,000/-. On 28.01.2013, the respondent vide allotment letter allotted a unit bearing no. GGN-23-1001 to the original allottee in the said project.
- ii. That on 10.04.2013, a buyer's agreement was executed for the said unit between the original allottee and the respondent. As per clause 14 of the said agreement, the respondent was bound to deliver the possession of the allotted flat within a period of 36 months from the start of construction along with 5 months grace period. That the construction work of the said project was started on 20.06.2013, hence, the due date of possession was 20.11.2016 (including grace period).

- iii. That on 18.10.2013, the erstwhile allottee and the complainants executed a sale agreement in respect of the said project whereby the erstwhile allottee had agreed to sell the said unit for a total sale consideration of Rs.1,08,70,400/- and further transferred all the rights over the said unit in the name of the complainants. The respondent through nomination letter dated 22.01.2014, transferred the said unit in the name of the complainants.
- iv. That on 18.07.2019, the complainants received a letter offering possession stating that they have received the occupancy certificate and the said unit is ready for possession and also, called upon the complainants to make requisite payment for final settlement of dues. The complainants vide their email dated 21.07.2019 claimed interest for the delay in possession and also raised dispute with regard to advance payment of monthly charges. On 14.08.2019, the complainants again served a letter to the respondent and raised concern with regard to the advance maintenance charges and other unreasonable charges levied by the respondent. However, the respondent failed to justify the reason behind the unreasonable charges so charged for the said

- unit. On 14.08.2019, the complainants made payment of RS.7,53,114 as final payment for the said unit and as per the demands of the respondent.
- v. That on 14.12.2019, the respondent handed over the possession of the unit along with unit handover letter but the same was protested by the complainants. That the complainants were compelled to take possession without providing interest for delay in possession. Further, the conveyance deed was registered and signed under protest by the complainants on 23.01.2020. The respondent failed to provide the interest for delay in handing over possession and compelled the complainants to sign the conveyance deed having one-sided clauses. Having the compelling circumstances, the complainants signed the conveyance deed under protest. Moreover, the execution of conveyance deed cannot debar the complainant from claiming delay possession interest in view of principle laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Wg. Cdr. Arifur Rahman Khan & Aleya Sultanam & ors. Vs. DLF Southern Homes Pvt. Ltd.
- vi. That the respondent has failed to fulfil his obligations to deliver the possession of the unit on specified time and has not only caused huge monetary losses but also mental agony. Also, the respondent has not provided the complainants with any interest on delay in handing over the possession of the unit and thus violated section 18 of the Act. Hence, as per the above mentioned facts and averments, the complainants are entitled to claim and receive interest on delay in handing over possession of the subject unit as provided under the Act.

C. Relief sought by the complainants

5. The complainants are seeking the following relief:

- i. Direct the respondent to provide to the complainants with prescribed rate of interest on delayed possession from the projected date of possession till the date of handing over of possession.
- ii. Pass any such direction or order as deem fit and proper in the interest of justice.

D. Reply filed by the respondent

6. The respondent had contested the complaint on the following grounds:

- i. That present complaint is based on an erroneous interpretation of the provisions of the Act as well as an incorrect understanding of the terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement dated 10.04.2013. That the provisions of the Act are not retrospective in nature. The provisions of the Act cannot undo or modify the terms of an agreement duly executed prior to coming into effect of the Act. It is further submitted that merely because the Act applies to ongoing projects which are registered with the authority, the Act cannot be said to be operating retrospectively. The provisions of the Act relied upon by the complainants for seeking interest cannot be called in to aid in derogation and ignorance of the provisions of the buyer's agreement. The interest is compensatory in nature and cannot be granted in derogation and ignorance of the provisions of the buyer's agreement. It is further submitted that the interest for the alleged delay demanded by the complainants is beyond the scope of the buyer's agreement. The complainants cannot demand any interest or compensation beyond the terms and conditions incorporated in the buyer's agreement.

- ii. That the original allottee vide an application form applied to the respondent for provisional allotment of a unit in the project. The original allottee, in pursuance of the aforesaid application form, were allotted an independent unit bearing no. GGN-23-1001, located on the 10th floor, in the project vide provisional allotment letter dated 28.01.2013. The original allottee consciously and willfully opted for a construction linked plan for remittance of the sale consideration for the unit in question and further represented to the respondent that he shall remit every installment on time as per the payment schedule. The respondent had no reason to suspect the bonafide of the original allottee and proceeded to allot the unit in question in his favor.
- iii. That thereafter, buyer's agreement dated 16.05.2013 was executed between the original allottee and the respondent. The original allottees and thereafter, the complainants were irregular in payment of instalments. The respondent was constrained to issue reminders and letters to the original allottees as well as the complainants requesting them to make payment of demanded amounts. Payment request letters, reminders etc., had been got sent to the original allottee and the complainants by the respondent clearly mentioning the amount that was outstanding and the due date for remittance of the respective amounts as per the schedule of payments, requesting them to timely discharge their outstanding financial liability but to no avail. Statement of account dated 21.09.2021 as maintained by the respondent in due course of its business depicts the delay in remittance of various payments by the complainants.

- iv. That the original allottee as well as the complainants consciously and maliciously chose to ignore the payment request letters and reminders issued by the respondent and flouted in making timely payments of the instalments which was an essential, crucial and an indispensable requirement under the buyer's agreement. Furthermore, when the proposed allottees default in their payments as per schedule agreed upon, the failure has a cascading effect on the operations and the cost for proper execution of the project increases exponentially and further causes enormous business losses to the respondent. The complainants chose to ignore all these aspects and wilfully defaulted in making timely payments. It is submitted that the respondent despite defaults of several allottees earnestly fulfilled its obligations under the buyer's agreement and completed the project as expeditiously as possible in the facts and circumstances of the case. Therefore, there is no equity in favour of the complainants.
- v. That clause 14(b)(v) of the buyer's agreement provides that in the event of any default or delay in payment of instalments as per the schedule of payments incorporated in the buyer's agreement, the time for delivery of possession shall also stand extended. It is submitted that the complainants have defaulted in timely remittance of the instalments and hence the date of delivery option is not liable to be determined in the manner sought to be done by the complainants. The complainants are conscious and aware of the said agreement and have filed the present complaint to harass the respondent and compel the respondent to surrender to their illegal demands. It is submitted that the filing of the present complaint is nothing but an abuse of the process of law.

- vi. That despite there being a number of defaulters in the project, the respondent itself infused funds into the project and has diligently developed the project in question. The respondent had applied for occupation certificate on 11.02.2019. The occupation certificate was thereafter issued in favour of the respondent vide memo bearing no. ZP-835/AD(RA)/2018/16186 dated 16.07.2019. It is pertinent to note that once an application for grant of occupation certificate is submitted for approval in the office of the concerned statutory authority, the respondent ceases to have any control over the same. The grant of sanction of the occupation certificate is the prerogative of the concerned statutory authority over which the respondent cannot exercise any influence. As far as the respondent is concerned, it has diligently and sincerely pursued the matter with the concerned statutory authority for obtaining of the occupation certificate. No fault or lapse can be attributed to the respondent in the facts and circumstances of the case. Therefore, the time period utilised by the statutory authority to grant occupation certificate to the respondent is necessarily required to be excluded from computation of the time period utilised for implementation and development of the project.

- vii. That the construction of the project/allotted unit in question already stands completed and the respondent has already offered possession of the unit in question to the complainants. Furthermore, the project of the respondent has been registered under the Act and the rules. Registration certificate was granted by the Haryana Real Estate Regulatory Authority vide memo no. HRERA-139/2017/2294 dated 05.12.2017. That the respondent had applied for extension of the registration and the validity of the registration certificate was extended till 31.12.2019. However, since the respondent has delivered possession of the units comprised in the relevant part of the project, the registration of the same has not been extended thereafter.
- viii. That the complainants were offered possession of the unit in question through letter of offer of possession dated 18.07.2019 and subsequent reminders for possession. The complainants were called upon to remit balance payment including delayed payment charges and to complete the necessary formalities/documentation necessary for handover of the unit in question to the complainants. However, the complainants approached the respondent with request for payment of compensation for the alleged delay in utter disregard of the terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement. The respondent explained to the complainants that they are not entitled to any compensation in terms of the buyer's agreement on account of default in timely remittance of instalments as per schedule of payment incorporated in the buyer's agreement. The respondent earnestly requested the complainants to obtain possession of the unit in question and further requested the complainants to execute a conveyance deed in respect of the unit in question after completing all the formalities regarding delivery of possession. However, the complainants did not pay any heed to the legitimate, just and fair requests of the respondent and threatened the respondent with institution of unwarranted litigation.

- ix. That the respondent has paid an amount of Rs. 77,242/- as benefit on account of anti-profiting and Rs.10,890/- on account of Early Payment Rebate (EPR). Without prejudice to the rights of the respondent, delayed interest if any has to be calculated only on the amounts deposited by the allottees/complainants towards the basic principle amount of the unit in question and not on any amount credited by the respondent, or any payment made by the allottees/complainants towards delayed payment charges or any taxes/statutory payments etc.
- x. That after receipt of the aforesaid amount, the complainants approached the respondent requesting it to deliver the possession of the unit in question. A unit handover letter dated 09.08.2019 was executed by the complainants, specifically and expressly agreeing that the liabilities and obligations of the respondent as enumerated in the allotment letter or the buyer's agreement stand satisfied. No cause of action has arisen or subsists in favour of the complainants to institute or prosecute the instant complaint.

- xi. That after execution of the unit handover letter dated 09.08.2019 and obtaining of possession of the unit in question, the complainants are left with no right, entitlement or claim against the respondent. It needs to be highlighted that the complainants have further executed a conveyance deed dated 23.01.2020 in respect of the unit in question. The transaction between the complainants and the respondent stands concluded and no right or liability can be asserted by the respondent or the complainants against the other. It is pertinent to take into reckoning that the complainants have obtained possession of the unit in question and have executed conveyance deed in respect thereof. The instant complaint is a gross misuse of process of law.
- xii. That the complainants on execution of the agreement to sell in their favour from the erstwhile allottee had approached respondent requesting it to endorse the provisional allotment of the unit in question in their name. The complainants had further executed affidavit and an indemnity cum undertaking whereby the complainants had consciously and voluntarily declared and affirmed that they would be bound by all the terms and conditions of the provisional allotment in favour of the original allottee. It was further declared by the complainants that having been substituted in the place of the original allottee, they were not entitled to any compensation for delay, if any, in delivery of possession of the unit in question or any rebate under a scheme or otherwise or any other discount, by whatever name called, from the respondent. Furthermore, the respondent, at the time of endorsement of the unit in question in their favour, had specifically indicated to complainants that the original allottee had defaulted in timely remittance of the instalments pertaining to the unit in question and therefore, have disintitiled themselves for any compensation / interest. The said position was duly accepted and acknowledged by complainants. The complainants are conscious and aware of the fact that she is not entitled to any right or claim against respondent. The complainants have intentionally distorted the real and true facts and have filed the present complaint in order to harass the respondent and mount undue pressure upon it. It is submitted that the filing of the present complaint is nothing but an abuse of the process of law. In the manner as aforesaid, the complainants have stepped into the shoes of the original allottee. Accordingly, the respondent issued nomination letter in respect of the unit in question dated 22.01.2014, in favour of the complainants.

- xiii. That several allottees, including the complainants, have defaulted in timely remittance of payment of installments which was an essential, crucial and an indispensable requirement for conceptualisation and development of the project in question. Furthermore, when the proposed allottees default in their payments as per schedule agreed upon, the failure has a cascading effect on the operations and the cost for proper execution of the project increases exponentially whereas enormous business losses befall upon the respondent. The respondent, despite default of several allottees, has diligently and earnestly pursued the development of the project in question and has constructed the project in question as expeditiously as possible. It is submitted that the construction of the tower in which the unit in question is situated is complete and the respondent has already offered possession of the unit in question to the complainants. Therefore, there is no default or lapse on the part of the respondent and there is no equity in favour of the complainants. Thus, it is most respectfully submitted that the present application deserves to be dismissed at the very threshold.

E. Jurisdiction of the authority

7. The authority observed that it has territorial as well as subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate the present complaint for the reasons given below.

E.I Territorial jurisdiction

8. As per notification no. 1/92/2017-1TCP dated 14.12.2017 issued by Town and Country Planning Department, Haryana the jurisdiction of Real Estate Regulatory Authority, Gurugram shall be entire Gurugram District for all purpose with offices situated in Gurugram. In the present case, the project in question is situated within the planning area of Gurugram District, therefore this authority has complete territorial jurisdiction to deal with the present complaint.

E.II Subject-matter jurisdiction

9. Section 11(4)(a) of the Act provides that the promoter shall be responsible to the allottee as per agreement for sale. Section 11(4)(a) is reproduced as hereunder:

Section 11

(4) The promoter shall-

- (a) be responsible for all obligations, responsibilities and functions under the provisions of this Act or the rules and regulations made thereunder or to the allottees as per the agreement for sale, or to the association of allottees, as the case may be, till the conveyance of all the apartments, plots or buildings, as the case may be, to the allottees, or the common areas to the association of allottees or the competent authority, as the case may be;

Section 34-Functions of the Authority:-

34(f) of the Act provides to ensure compliance of the obligations cast upon the promoters, the allottees and the real estate agents under this Act and the rules and regulations made thereunder.

10. So, in view of the provisions of the Act quoted above, the authority has complete jurisdiction to decide the complaint regarding non-compliance of obligations by the promoter as per provisions of section 11(4)(a) of the Act leaving aside compensation which is to be decided by the adjudicating officer if pursued by the complainants at a later stage.

F. Findings on the objections raised by the respondent

F.1 Objection regarding jurisdiction of authority w.r.t. buyer's agreement executed prior to coming into force of the Act and provisions of the Act are not retrospective in nature

11. The respondent raised an objection that the provisions of the Act are not retrospective in nature and the provisions of the Act cannot undo or modify the terms of an agreement duly executed prior to coming into force of the Act. The authority is of the view that the Act nowhere provides, nor can be so construed, that all previous agreements will be re-written after coming into force of the Act. Therefore, the provisions of the Act, rules and agreement have to be read and interpreted harmoniously. However, if the Act has provided for dealing with certain specific provisions/ situation in a specific/particular manner, then that situation will be dealt with in accordance with the Act and the rules after the date of coming into force of the Act and the rules. Numerous provisions of the Act save the provisions of the agreements made between the buyers and sellers. The said contention has been upheld in the landmark judgment of Neelkamal Realtors Suburban Pvt. Ltd. Vs. UOI and others. (W.P 2737 of 2017) which provides as under:

- "119. Under the provisions of Section 18, the delay in handing over the possession would be counted from the date mentioned in the agreement for sale entered into by the promoter and the allottee prior to its registration under RERA. Under the provisions of RERA, the promoter is given a facility to revise the date of completion of project and declare the same under Section 4. The RERA does not contemplate rewriting of contract between the flat purchaser and the promoter.....
122. We have already discussed that above stated provisions of the RERA are not retrospective in nature. They may to some extent be having a retroactive or quasi retroactive effect but then on that ground the validity of the provisions of RERA cannot be challenged. The Parliament is competent enough to legislate law having retrospective or retroactive effect. A law can be even framed to affect subsisting / existing contractual rights between the parties in the larger public interest. We do not have any doubt in our mind that the RERA has been framed in the larger public interest after a thorough study and discussion made at the highest level by the Standing Committee and Select Committee, which submitted its detailed reports."

12. Also, in appeal no. 173 of 2019 titled as Magic Eye Developer Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Ishwer Singh Dahiya, in order dated 17.12.2019 the Haryana Real Estate Appellate Tribunal has observed-

"34. Thus, keeping in view our aforesaid discussion, we are of the considered opinion that the provisions of the Act are quasi retroactive to some extent in operation and will be applicable to the agreements for sale entered into even prior to coming into operation of the Act where the transaction are still in the process of completion. Hence in case of delay in the offer/delivery of possession as per the terms and conditions of the agreement for sale the allottee shall be entitled to the interest/delayed possession charges on the reasonable rate of interest as provided in Rule 15 of the rules and one sided, unfair and unreasonable rate of compensation mentioned in the agreement for sale is liable to be ignored."

13. The agreements are sacrosanct save and except for the provisions which have been abrogated by the Act itself. Further, it is noted that the builder-buyer agreements have been executed in the manner that there is no scope left to the allottee to negotiate any of the clauses contained therein. Therefore, the authority is of the view that the charges payable under various heads shall be payable as per the agreed terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement subject to the condition that the same are in accordance with the plans/permissions approved by the respective departments/competent authorities and are not in contravention of the Act, rules and regulations made thereunder and are not unreasonable or exorbitant in nature.

F.II Objection regarding exclusion of time taken by the competent authority in processing the application and issuance of occupation certificate

14. As far as contention of the respondent with respect to the exclusion of time taken by the competent authority in processing the application and issuance of occupation certificate is concerned, the authority observed that the respondent had applied for grant of occupation certificate on 11.02.2019 and thereafter vide memo no. ZP-835-AD(RA)/2018/16816 dated 16.07.2019, the occupation certificate has been granted by the competent authority under the prevailing law. The authority cannot be a silent spectator to the deficiency in the application submitted by the promoter for issuance of occupancy certificate. It is evident from the occupation certificate dated 16.07.2019 that an incomplete application for grant of OC was applied on 11.02.2019 as fire NOC from the competent authority was granted only on 30.05.2019 which is subsequent to the filing of application for occupation certificate. Also, the Chief Engineer-I, HSVP, Panchkula has submitted his requisite report in respect of the said project on 19.06.2019. The District Town Planner, Gurugram and Senior Town Planner, Gurugram has submitted requisite report about this project on 03.06.2019 and 10.06.2019 respectively. As such, the application submitted on 11.02.2019 was incomplete and an incomplete application is no application in the eyes of law.
15. The application for issuance of occupancy certificate shall be moved in the prescribed forms and accompanied by the documents mentioned in sub-code 4.10.1 of the Haryana Building Code, 2017. As per sub-code

4.10.4 of the said Code, after receipt of application for grant of occupation certificate, the competent authority shall communicate in writing within 60 days, its decision for grant/ refusal of such permission for occupation of the building in Form BR-VII. In the present case, the respondent has completed its application for occupation certificate only on 19.06.2019 and consequently the concerned authority has granted occupation certificate on 16.07.2019. Therefore, in view of the deficiency in the said application dated 11.02.2019 and aforesaid reasons, no delay in granting occupation certificate can be attributed to the concerned statutory authority.

F.III Whether a subsequent allottee who had executed an indemnity cum undertaking with waiver clause is entitled to claim delay possession charges.

16. The respondent submitted that complainants in question are subsequent allottees and complainants had executed an affidavit and an indemnity cum undertaking whereby the complainants had consciously and voluntarily declared and affirmed that they would be bound by all the terms and conditions of the provisional allotment in favour of the original allottee. It was further declared by the complainants that they, having been substituted in the place of the original allottee in respect of the provisional allotment of the unit in question, were not entitled to any compensation for delay. Therefore, the complainants are not entitled to any compensation. With regard to the above contentions raised by the promoter/developer, it is worthwhile to examine following four sub-issues:

- (i) Whether subsequent allottee is also allottee as per provisions of the Act?
- (ii) Whether delay possession charges are in the nature of statutory legal obligation of the promoter other than compensation?
- (iii) Whether the subsequent allottee is entitled to delayed possession charges w.e.f. due date of handing over possession or w.e.f. the date of nomination letter/endorsement (i.e. date on which he became allottee)?
- (iv) Whether indemnity-cum-undertaking with waiver clause at the time of transfer of unit is arbitrary and whether statutory rights can be waived of by such one sided and unreasonable undertaking?

i. Whether subsequent allottee is also an allottee as per provisions of the Act?

17. The term "allottee" as defined in the Act also includes and means the subsequent allottee, hence is entitled to the same relief as that of the original allottee. The definition of the allottee as provided in the Act is reproduced as under:

"2 In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires-

- (d) "allottee" in relation to a real estate project, means the person to whom a plot, apartment or building, as the case may be, has been allotted, sold (whether as freehold or leasehold) or otherwise transferred by the promoter, and includes the person who subsequently acquires the said allotment through sale, transfer or otherwise but does not include a person to whom such plot, apartment or building, as the case may be, is given on rent".*

18. Accordingly, following are allottees as per this definition:

- (a) Original allottee: A person to whom a plot, apartment or building, as the case may be, has been allotted, sold (whether as freehold or leasehold) or otherwise transferred by the promoter.
- (b) Allottees after subsequent transfer from the original allottee: A person who acquires the said allotment through sale, transfer or otherwise. However, an allottee would not be a person to whom any plot, apartment or building is given on rent.
19. From a bare perusal of the definition, it is clear that the transferee of an apartment, plot or building who acquires it by any mode is an allottee. This may include (i) allotment; (ii) sale; (iii) transfer; (iv) as consideration of services; (v) by exchange of development rights; or (vi) by any other similar means. It can be safely reached to the only logical conclusion that no difference has been made between the original allottee and the subsequent allottee and once the unit, plot, apartment or building, as the case may be, has been re-allotted in the name of the subsequent purchaser by the promoter, the subsequent allottee enters into the shoes of the original allottee for all intents and purposes and he shall be bound by all the terms and conditions contained in the buyer's agreement including the rights and liabilities of the original allottee. Thus, as soon as the unit is re-allotted in his name, he will become the allottee and nomenclature "subsequent allottee" shall only remain for identification for use by the promoter. Therefore, the authority does not draw any difference between the allottee and subsequent allottee per se.

20. Reliance is placed on the judgment dated 26.11.2019 passed in consumer complaint no. 3775 of 2017 titled as Rajnish Bhardwaj Vs. M/s CHD Developers Ltd. by NCDRC wherein it was held as under:

"15. So far as the issue raised by the Opposite Party that the Complainants are not the original allottees of the flat and resale of flat does not come within the purview of this Act, is concerned, in our view, having issued the Re-allotment letters on transfer of the allotted Unit and endorsing the Apartment Buyers Agreement in favour of the Complainants, this plea does not hold any water....."

21. The authority concurs with the Hon'ble NCDRC's decision dated 26.11.2019 in Rajnish Bhardwaj vs. M/s CHD Developers Ltd. (supra) and observes that it is irrespective of the status of the allottee whether it is original or subsequent, an amount has been paid towards the consideration for a unit and the endorsement by the developer on the transfer documents clearly implies its acceptance of the complainants as allottees.
22. Therefore, taking the above facts into account, the authority is of the view that the term subsequent allottee has been used synonymously with the term allottee in the Act. The subsequent allottee at the time of buying the said unit takes on the rights as well as obligations of the original allottee vis-a-viz the same terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement entered into by the original allottee. Moreover, the amount if any paid by the subsequent or original allottee is adjusted against the unit in question and not against any individual. Furthermore, the name of the complainants/subsequent allottees have been endorsed on the same buyer's agreement which was executed between the original allottee and the promoter. Therefore, the rights and obligation of the subsequent allottees and the promoter will also be governed by the said buyer's agreement.

ii. Whether delay possession charges are in the nature of statutory legal obligation of the promoter other than compensation?

23. It is important to understand that the Act has clearly provided interest and compensation as separate entitlement/right which the allottee can claim. An allottee is entitled to claim compensation under sections 12, 14, 18 and section 19, to be decided by the adjudicating officer as per section 71 and the quantum of compensation shall be adjudged by the adjudicating officer having due regard to the factors mentioned in section 72. The interest is payable to the allottee by the promoter in case where there is refund or payment of delay possession charges i.e., interest at the prescribed rate for every month of delay. The interest to be paid to the allottee is fixed and as prescribed in the rules which an allottee is legally entitled to get and the promoter is obligated to pay. The compensation is to be adjudged by the adjudicating officer and may be expressed either lump sum or as interest on the deposited amount after adjudgment of compensation. This compensation expressed as interest needs to be distinguished with the interest at the prescribed rate payable by the promoter to the allottee in case of delay in handing over of possession or interest at the prescribed rate payable by the allottee to the promoter in case of default in due payments. Here, the interest is pre-determined, and no adjudication is involved. Accordingly, the distinction has to be made between the interest payable at the prescribed rate under section 18 or 19 and adjudgment of compensation under sections 12, 14, 18 and section 19. The compensation shall mean an amount paid to the flat purchasers who have suffered agony and harassment, as a result of the default of the developer including but not limited to delay in handing over of the possession.

24. In addition, the quantum of compensation to be awarded shall be subject to the extent of loss and injury suffered by the negligence of the opposite party and is not a definitive term. It may be in the form of interest or punitive in nature. However, the Act clearly differentiates between the interest payable for delayed possession charges and compensation. Section 18 of the Act provides for two separate remedies which are as under:

- i. In the event, the allottee wishes to withdraw from the project, he/she shall be entitled without prejudice to any other remedy refund of the amount paid along with interest at such rate as may be prescribed in this behalf including compensation in the manner as provided under this Act;
- ii. In the event, the allottee does not intend to withdraw from the project, he/she shall be paid by the promoter interest for every month of delay till the handing over of the possession, at such rate as may be prescribed.

25. The rate of interest in both the scenarios is fixed as per rule 15 of the rules which shall be the State Bank of India's highest marginal cost of lending rate +2%. However, for adjudging compensation or interest under sections 12,14,18 and section 19, the adjudicating officer has to take into account the various factors as provided under section 72 of the Act.

iii. Whether the subsequent allottee is entitled to delayed possession charges w.e.f. due date of handing over possession or w.e.f. the date of nomination letter (i.e. date on which he became allottee)?

26. The respondent/promoter argued that the complainants/subsequent allottees shall not be entitled to any compensation/delayed possession charges since at the time of the execution of transfer documents/agreement for sale, they were well aware of the due date of possession and have knowingly waived off their right to claim any compensation for delay in handing over possession or any rebate under a scheme or otherwise or any other discount. The respondent/promoter had spoken about the disentanglement of compensation/delayed possession charges to the subsequent allottees who had clear knowledge of the fact w.r.t. the due date of possession and whether the project was already delayed. But despite that they entered into the agreement for sell and/or indemnity-cum-undertaking knowingly waiving off their right of compensation.

27. The authority place reliance on the recent case titled as M/s Laureate Buildwell Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Charanjeet Singh, civil appeal no. 7042 of 2019 dated 22.07.2021 wherein the Apex Court has held that relief of interest on refund, enunciated by the decision in HUDA Vs. Raje Ram (2008) which was applied in Wg. Commander Arifur Rehman (Wg. Cdr. Arifur Rahman Khan and Aleya Sultana and Ors. V. DLF Southern Homes Pvt. Ltd. (now Known as BEGUR OMR Homes Pvt. Ltd.) and Ors. (Civil appeal no. 6239 of 2019 dated 24.08.2020) cannot be considered good law and has held that the subsequent purchaser/respondent had stepped into the shoes of the original allottee, and intimated Laureate (builder) about this fact in April 2016, the interest of justice demand that the interest at least from that date should be granted, in favour of the respondent. The relevant paras of the said judgment are being reproduced as follows:

"31. In view of these considerations, this court is of the opinion that the per se bar to the relief of interest on refund, enunciated by the decision in Raje Ram (supra) which was applied in Wg. Commander Arifur Rehman (supra) cannot be considered good law. The nature and extent of relief, to which a subsequent purchaser can be entitled to, would be fact dependent. However, it cannot be said that a subsequent purchaser who steps into the shoes of an original allottee of a housing project in which the builder has not honoured its commitment to deliver the flat within a stipulated time, cannot expect any – even reasonable time, for the performance of the builder's obligation. Such a conclusion would be arbitrary, given that there may be a large number- possibly thousands of flat buyers, waiting for their promised flats or residences; they surely would be entitled to all reliefs under the Act. In such case, a purchaser who no doubt enters the picture later surely belongs to the same class. Further, the purchaser agrees to buy the flat with a reasonable expectation that delivery of possession would be in accordance within the bounds of the delayed timeline that he has knowledge of, at the time of purchase of the flat. Therefore, in the event the purchaser claims refund, on an assessment that he too can (like the original allottee) no longer wait, and face intolerable burdens, the equities would have to be moulded. It would no doubt be fair to assume that the purchaser had knowledge of the delay. However, to attribute knowledge that such delay would continue indefinitely, based on an a priori assumption, would not be justified. The equities, in the opinion of this court, can properly be moulded by directing refund of the principal amounts, with interest @ 9% per annum from the date the builder acquired knowledge of the transfer, or acknowledged it.

32. In the present case, there is material on the record suggestive of the circumstance that even as on the date of presentation of the present appeal, the occupancy certificate was not forthcoming. In these circumstances, given that the purchaser/respondent had stepped into the shoes of the original allottee, and intimated Laureate about this fact in April 2016, the interests of justice demand that interest at least from that date should be granted, in favour of the respondent. The directions of the NCDRC are accordingly modified in the above terms."(Emphasis supplied)

28. In the present case, the complainant/subsequent allottee had been acknowledged as an allottee by the respondent vide nomination letter dated 22.01.2014. The authority observes that the promoter has confirmed the transfer of allotment in favour of subsequent allottees (complainants) and the instalments paid by the original allottee were adjusted in the name of the subsequent allottees and the next instalments were payable/due as per the original allotment letter. Also, we have also perused the buyer's agreement which was originally entered into between the original allottee and the promoter. The same buyer's agreement has been endorsed in favour of the subsequent allottees/complainants. All the terms of buyer's agreement remain the same, so it is quite clear that the subsequent allottees have stepped into the shoes of the original allottees.

29. Though the promised date of delivery was 20.06.2016 and the complainants/subsequent allottees have been acknowledged as allottees by the respondent vide nomination letter dated 22.01.2014 i.e. prior to the lapse of due date of possession. The construction of the tower in question was not completed by the said date and it was offered by the respondent only on 18.07.2019. If these facts are taken into consideration, the complainants/ subsequent allottees have agreed to buy the unit in question with the expectation that the respondent/promoter would abide by the terms of the buyer's agreement and would deliver the subject unit by the said due date. At this juncture, the subsequent purchasers cannot be expected to have knowledge, by any stretch of imagination, that the project will be delayed, and the possession would not be handed over within the stipulated period. So, the authority is of the view that in cases where the subsequent allottees has stepped into the shoes of original allottee before the due date of handing over possession, the delayed possession charges shall be granted w.e.f. due date of handing over possession. In the present complaint, the respondent had acknowledged the complainants as allottees before the expiry of due date of handing over possession, therefore, the complainants are entitled for delay possession charges w.e.f. due date of handing over possession as per the buyer's agreement.

- iv. Whether indemnity-cum-undertaking with waiver clause at the time of transfer of unit is arbitrary and whether statutory rights can be waived of by such one sided and unreasonable undertaking?
30. The authority further is unable to gather any reason or has not been exposed to any reasonable justification as to why a need arose for the complainants to sign any such affidavit or indemnity-cum-undertaking and as to why the complainants have agreed to surrender their legal rights which were available or had accrued in favour of the original allottee. In the instant matter in dispute, it is not the case of the respondent that the re-allotment of the unit was made in the name of the complainants/ subsequent purchasers after the expiry of the due date of delivery of possession of the unit. Thus, so far as the due date of delivery of possession had not come yet and before that the unit had been re-allotted in the name of the subsequent allottees, the subsequent-allottees will be bound by all the terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement including the rights and liabilities. Thus, no sane person would ever execute such an affidavit or indemnity-cum-undertaking unless and until some arduous and/or compelling conditions are put before him with a condition that unless and until, these arduous and/or compelling conditions are performed by him, he will not be given any relief and he is thus left with no other option but to obey these conditions. Exactly same situation has been demonstratively happened here, when the complainants/subsequent-allottees have been asked to give the affidavit or indemnity-cum-undertaking in question before transferring the unit in their name otherwise such transfer may not be allowed by the promoter. Such an undertaking/ indemnity bond given by a person thereby giving up their valuable rights must be shown to have been executed in a free atmosphere and should not give rise to any suspicion. No reliance can be placed on any such affidavit/ indemnity-cum-undertaking and the same is liable to be discarded and ignored in its totality. Therefore, this authority does not place reliance on the said affidavit/indemnity cum undertaking. To fortify this view, we place reliance on the order dated 03.01.2020 passed by hon'ble NCDRC in case titled as Capital Greens Flat Buyer Association and Ors. Vs. DLF Universal Ltd., Consumer case no. 351 of 2015, wherein it was held that the execution of indemnity-cum-undertaking would defeat the provisions of section 23 and 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and therefore, would be against public policy, besides being an unfair trade practice. The relevant portion of the said judgment is reproduced herein below:

"Indemnity-cum-undertaking

30. The developer, while offering possession of the allotted flats insisted upon execution of the indemnity-cum-undertaking before it would give possession of the allotted flats to the concerned allottee.

Clause 13 of the said indemnity-cum-undertaking required the allottee to confirm and acknowledge that by accepting the offer of possession, he would have no further demands/claims against the company of any nature, whatsoever. It is an admitted position that the execution of the undertaking in the format prescribed by the developer was a pre-requisite condition, for the delivery of the possession. The opposite party, in my opinion, could not have insisted upon clause 13 of the Indemnity-cum-undertaking. The obvious purpose behind such an undertaking was to deter the allottee from making any claim against the developer, including the claim on account of the delay in delivery of possession and the claim on account of any latent defect which the allottee may find in the apartment. The execution of such an undertaking would defeat the provisions of Section 23 and 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and therefore would be against public policy, besides being an unfair trade practice. Any delay solely on account of the allottee not executing such an undertaking would be attributable to the developer and would entitle the allottee to compensation for the period the possession is delayed solely on account of his having not executed the said undertaking-cum-indemnity."

31. The said judgment of NCDRC was also upheld by the Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its judgement dated 14.12.2020 passed in civil appeal nos. 3864-3889 of 2020 against the order of NCDRC.
32. Hon'ble Supreme Court and various High Courts in a plethora of judgments have held that the terms of a contract shall not be binding if it is shown that the same were one sided and unfair and the person signing did not have any other option but to sign the same. Reference can also be placed on the directions rendered by the Hon'ble Apex Court in civil appeal no. 12238 of 2018 titled as Pioneer Urban Land and Infrastructure Limited Vs. Govindan Raghavan (decided on 02.04.2019) as well as by the Hon'ble Bombay High Court in the Neelkamal Realtors Suburban Pvt. Ltd. (supra). A similar view has also been taken by the Apex court in IREO Grace Realtech Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Abhishek Khanna & Ors. (Civil appeal no. 5785 of 2019) as under:

".....that the incorporation of such one-sided and unreasonable clauses in the Apartment Buyer's Agreement constitutes an unfair trade practice under Section 2(1)(r) of the Consumer Protection Act. Even under the 1986 Act, the powers of the consumer fora were in no manner constrained to declare a contractual term as unfair or one-sided as an incident of the power to discontinue unfair or restrictive trade practices. An "unfair contract" has been defined under the 2019 Act, and powers have been conferred on the State Consumer Fora and the National Commission to declare contractual terms which are unfair, as null and void. This is a statutory recognition of a power which was implicit under the 1986 Act.

In view of the above, we hold that the Developer cannot compel the apartment buyers to be bound by the one-sided contractual terms contained in the Apartment Buyer's Agreement."

33. The same analogy can easily be applied in the case of execution of an affidavit or indemnity-cum-undertaking which got executed from the complainant/subsequent-allottees before getting the unit transferred in their name in the record of the promoter as allottee in place of the original allottee.
34. The authority may deal with this point from yet another aspect. By executing an affidavit/undertaking, the complainants/subsequent allottees cuts their hands from claiming delay possession charges in case there occurs any delay in giving possession of the unit beyond the stipulated time or the due date of possession. But the question which arises before the authority is that what does allottee got in return from the promoter by giving such a mischievous and unprecedented undertaking. However, the answer would be "nothing". If it is so, then why did the complainants executed such an affidavit/undertaking is beyond the comprehension and understanding of this authority.
35. The authority holds that irrespective of the execution of the affidavit/undertaking by the complainants/subsequent allottees at the time of transfer of the unit in their name as allottee in place of the original allottee in the record of the promoter does not disentitle them from claiming the delay possession charges in case there occurs any delay in delivering the possession of the unit beyond the due date of delivery of possession as promised even after execution of an indemnity-cum-undertaking.

F.IV Whether signing of unit hand over letter or indemnity-cum-undertaking at the time of possession extinguishes the right of the allottee to claim delay possession charges.

36. The respondent contended that at the time of taking possession of the subject flat vide unit hand over letter dated 14.12.2019, the complainants had certified themselves to be fully satisfied with regard to the measurements, location, direction, developments et cetera of the unit and also admitted and acknowledge that they do not have any claim of any nature whatsoever against the respondent and that upon acceptance of possession, the liabilities and obligations of the respondent as enumerated in the allotment letter/buyer's agreement, stand fully satisfied. The relevant para of the unit handover letter relied upon reads as under:

"The Allottee, hereby, certifies that he / she has taken over the peaceful and vacant physical possession of the aforesaid Unit after fully satisfying himself / herself with regard to its measurements, location, dimension and development etc. and hereafter the Allottee has no claim of any nature whatsoever against the Company with regard to the size, dimension, area, location and legal status of the aforesaid Home.

Upon acceptance of possession, the liabilities and obligations of the Company as enumerated in the allotment letter/Agreement executed in favour of the Allottee stand satisfied."

37. At times, the allottee is asked to give the indemnity-cum-undertaking before taking possession. The complainants have waited long for their cherished dream home and now when it is ready for possession, they either have to sign the indemnity-cum-undertaking and take possession or to keep struggling with the promoter if indemnity-cum-undertaking is not signed by them. Such an undertaking/ indemnity bond given by a person thereby giving up their valuable rights must be shown to have been executed in a free atmosphere and should not give rise to any suspicion. If a slightest of doubt arises in the mind of the adjudicator that such an agreement was not executed in an atmosphere free of doubts and suspicions, the same would be deemed to be against public policy and would also amount to unfair trade practices. No reliance can be placed on any such indemnity-cum-undertaking and the same is liable to be discarded and ignored in its totality. Therefore, this authority does not place reliance on such indemnity-cum-undertaking. To fortify this view, the authority place reliance on the NCDRC order dated 03.01.2020 in case titled as Capital Greens Flat Buyer Association and Ors. Vs. DLF Universal Ltd., Consumer case no. 351 of 2015, wherein it was held that the execution of indemnity-cum-undertaking would defeat the provisions of sections 23 and 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and therefore would be against public policy, besides being an unfair trade practice. The relevant portion of the said judgment is reproduced herein below.

"Indemnity-cum-undertaking

30. The developer, while offering possession of the allotted flats insisted upon execution of the indemnity-cum-undertaking before it would give possession of the allotted flats to the concerned allottee.

Clause 13 of the said indemnity-cum-undertaking required the allottee to confirm and acknowledge that by accepting the offer of possession, he would have no further demands/claims against the company of any nature, whatsoever. It is an admitted position that the execution of the undertaking in the format prescribed by the developer was a pre- requisite condition, for the delivery of the possession. The opposite party, in my opinion, could not have insisted upon clause 13 of the Indemnity-cum-undertaking. The obvious purpose behind such an undertaking was to deter the allottee from making any claim against the developer, including the claim on account of the delay in delivery of possession and the claim on account of any latent defect which the allottee may find in the apartment. The execution of such an undertaking would defeat the provisions of Section 23 and 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and therefore would be against public policy, besides being an unfair trade practice. Any delay solely on account of the allottee not executing such an undertaking would be attributable to the developer and would entitle the allottee to compensation for the period the possession is delayed solely on account of his having not executed the said undertaking-cum-indemnity."

38. The said judgment of NCDRC was also upheld by the Hon'ble Supreme Court vide its judgement dated 14.12.2020 passed in civil appeal nos. 3864-3889 of 2020 against the order of NCDRC.
39. It is noteworthy that section 18 of the Act stipulates for the statutory right of the allottee against the obligation of the promoter to deliver the possession within stipulated timeframe. Therefore, the liability of the promoter continues even after the execution of indemnity-cum-undertaking at the time of possession. Further, the reliance placed by the respondent counsel on the language of the handover letter that the allottees had waived off their right by signing the said unit handover letter is superficial. In this context, it is appropriate to refer case titled as Mr. Beatty Tony Vs. Prestige Estate Projects Pvt, Ltd. (Revision petition no.3135 of 2014 dated 18.11.2014), wherein the Hon'ble NCDRC while rejecting the arguments of the promoter that the possession has since been accepted without protest vide letter dated 23.12.2011 and builder stands discharged of its liabilities under agreement, the allottee cannot be allowed to claim interest at a later date on account of delay in handing over of the possession of the apartment to him, held as under:

"The learned counsel for the opposite parties submits that the complainant accepted possession of the apartment on 23/24.12.2011 without any protest and therefore cannot be permitted to claim interest at a later date on account of the alleged delay in handing over the possession of the apartment to him. We, however, find no merit in the contention. A perusal of the letter dated 23.12.2011, issued by the opposite parties to the complainant would show that the opposite parties unilaterally stated in the said letter that they had discharged all their obligations under the agreement. Even if we assume on the basis of the said printed statement that having accepted possession, the complainant cannot claim that the opposite parties had not discharged all their obligations under the agreement, the said discharge in our opinion would not extend to payment of interest for the delay period, though it would cover handing over of possession of the apartment in terms of the agreement between the parties. In fact, the case of the complainant, as articulated by his counsel is that the complainant had no option but to accept the possession on the terms contained in the letter dated 23.12.2011, since any protest by him or refusal to accept possession would have further delayed the receiving of the possession despite payment having been already made to the opposite parties except to the extent of Rs. 8,86,736/-. Therefore, in our view the aforesaid letter dated 23.12.2011 does not preclude the complainant from exercising his right to claim compensation for the deficiency on the part of the opposite parties in rendering services to him by delaying possession of the apartment, without any justification condonable under the agreement between the parties."

40. The said view was later reaffirmed by the Hon'ble NCDRC in case titled as Vivek Maheshwari Vs. Emaar MGF Land Ltd. (Consumer case no. 1039 of 2016 dated 26.04.2019) wherein it was observed as under:

"7. It would thus be seen that the complainants while taking possession in terms of the above referred printed handover letter of the OP, can, at best, be said to have discharged the OP of its liabilities and obligations as enumerated in the agreement. However, this hand over letter, in my opinion, does not come in the way of the complainants seeking compensation from this Commission under section 14(1)(d) of the Consumer Protection Act for the delay in delivery of possession. The said delay amounting to a deficiency in the services offered by the OP to the complainants. The right to seek compensation for the deficiency in the service was never given up by the complainants. Moreover, the Consumer Complaint was also pending before this Commission at the time the unit was handed over to the complainants. Therefore, the complainants, in my view, cannot be said to have relinquished their legal right to claim compensation from the OP merely because the basis of the unit has been taken by them in terms of printed hand over letter and the Sale Deed has also been got executed by them in their favour."

41. Therefore, the authority is of the view that the aforesaid unit handover letter dated 14.12.2019 does not preclude the complainants from exercising their right to claim delay possession charges as per the provisions of the Act.

F.V Whether the execution of the conveyance deed extinguishes the right of the allottee to claim delay possession charges

42. The respondent submitted that the complainants have executed the conveyance deed on 23.01.2020 and therefore, the transaction between the complainants and the respondent have been concluded and no right or liability can be asserted by respondent or the complainants against the other. Therefore, the complainants are estopped from claiming any interest in the facts and circumstances of the case. The present complaint is nothing but a gross misuse of process of law.
43. It is important to look at the definition of the term 'deed' itself in order to understand the extent of the relationship between an allottee and promoter. A deed is a written document or an instrument that is sealed, signed and delivered by all the parties to the contract (buyer and seller). It is a contractual document that includes legally valid terms and is enforceable in a court of law. It is mandatory that a deed should be in writing, and both the parties involved must sign the document. Thus, a conveyance deed is essentially one wherein the seller transfers all rights to legally own, keep and enjoy a particular asset, immovable or movable. In this case, the asset under consideration is immovable property. On signing a conveyance deed, the original owner transfers all legal rights over the property in question to the buyer, against a valid consideration (usually monetary). Therefore, a 'conveyance deed' or 'sale deed' implies that the seller signs a document stating that all authority and ownership of the property in question has been transferred to the buyer.

44. From the above, it is clear that on execution of a sale/ conveyance deed, only the title and interests in the said immovable property (herein the allotted unit) is transferred. However, the conveyance deed does not mark an end to the liabilities of a promoter since various sections of the Act provide for continuing liability and obligations of a promoter who may not under the garb of such contentions be able to avoid its responsibility. The relevant sections are reproduced hereunder:

45. This view is affirmed by the Hon'ble NCDRC in case titled as Vivek Maheshwari Vs. Emaar MGF Land Ltd. (Consumer case no. 1039 of 2016 dated 26.04.2019) wherein it was observed as under:

"7. It would thus be seen that the complainants while taking possession in terms of the above referred printed handover letter of the OP, can, at best, be said to have discharged the OP of its liabilities and obligations as enumerated in the agreement. However, this hand over letter, in my opinion, does not come in the way of the complainants seeking compensation from this Commission under section 14(1)(d) of the Consumer Protection Act for the delay in delivery of possession. The said delay amounting to a deficiency in the services offered by the OP to the complainants. The right to seek compensation for the deficiency in the service was never given up by the complainants. Moreover, the Consumer Complaint was also pending before this Commission at the time the unit was handed over to the complainants. Therefore, the complainants, in my view, cannot be said to have relinquished their legal right to claim compensation from the OP merely because the basis of the unit has been taken by them in terms of printed hand over letter and the Sale Deed has also been got executed by them in their favour.

8. .....The relationship of consumer and service provider does not come to an end on execution of the Sale Deed in favour of the complainants....." (emphasis supplied)

46. From above, it can be said that taking over the possession and thereafter execution of the conveyance deed can best be termed as respondent having discharged its liabilities as per the buyer's agreement and upon taking possession, and/or executing conveyance deed, the complainants never gave up their statutory right to seek delayed possession charges as per the provisions of the said Act. Also, the same view has been upheld by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in case titled as Wg. Cdr. Arifur Rahman Khan and Aleya Sultana and Ors. Vs. DLF Southern Homes Pvt. Ltd. (now Known as BEGUR OMR Homes Pvt. Ltd.) and Ors. (Civil appeal no. 6239 of 2019) dated 24.08.2020, the relevant paras are reproduced herein below:

"34 The developer has not disputed these communications. Though these are four communications issued by the developer, the appellants submitted that they are not isolated aberrations but fit into a pattern. The developer does not state that it was willing to offer the flat purchasers possession of their flats and the right to execute conveyance of the flats while reserving their claim for compensation for delay. On the contrary, the tenor of the communications indicates that while executing the Deeds of Conveyance, the flat buyers were informed that no form of protest or reservation would be acceptable. The flat buyers were essentially presented with an unfair choice of either retaining their right to pursue their claims (in which event they would not get possession or title in the meantime) or to forsake the claims in order to perfect their title to the flats for which they had paid valuable consideration. In this backdrop, the simple question which we need to address is whether a flat buyer who seeks to espouse a claim against the developer for delayed possession can as a consequence of doing so be compelled to defer the right to obtain a conveyance to perfect their title. It would, in our view, be manifestly unreasonable to expect that in order to pursue a claim for compensation for delayed handing over of possession, the purchaser must indefinitely defer obtaining a conveyance of the premises purchased or, if they seek to obtain a Deed of Conveyance to forsake the right to claim compensation. This basically is a position which the NCDRC has espoused. We cannot countenance that view.

35. The flat purchasers invested hard earned money. It is only reasonable to presume that the next logical step is for the purchaser to perfect the title to the premises which have been allotted under the terms of the ABA. But the submission of the developer is that the purchaser forsakes the remedy before the consumer forum by seeking a Deed of Conveyance. To accept such a construction would lead to an absurd consequence of requiring the purchaser either to abandon a just claim as a condition for obtaining the conveyance or to indefinitely delay the execution of the Deed of Conveyance pending protracted consumer litigation."
47. It is observed that all the agreements/ documents signed by the allottee reveals stark incongruities between the remedies available to both the parties. In most of the cases, these documents and contracts are ex-facie one sided, unfair and unreasonable whether the plea has been taken by the allottee while filing its complaint that the documents were signed under duress or not. The right of the allottee to claim delayed possession charges shall not be abrogated simply for the said reason.
48. The allottees have invested their hard-earned money which there is no doubt that the promoter has been enjoying benefits of and the next step is to get their title perfected by executing a conveyance deed which is the statutory right of the allottee. Also, the obligation of the developer – promoter does not end with the execution of a conveyance deed. The essence and purpose of the Act was to curb the menace created by the developer/promoter and safeguard the interests of the allottees by protecting them from being exploited by the dominant position of the developer which he thrusts on the innocent allottees. Therefore, in furtherance to the Hon'ble Apex Court judgement and the law laid down in the Wg. Cdr. Arifur Rahman (supra), this authority holds that even after execution of the conveyance deed, the complainants cannot be precluded from their right to seek delay possession charges from the respondent-promoter.

G. Findings of the authority

G.I Delay possession charges

49. Relief sought by the complainants: Direct the respondent to provide to the complainants with prescribed rate of interest on delayed possession from the projected date of possession till the date of handing over of possession.
50. In the present complaint, the complainants intend to continue with the project and are seeking delay possession charges as provided under the proviso to section 18(1) of the Act. Sec. 18(1) proviso reads as under.

"Section 18: - Return of amount and compensation

18(1). If the promoter fails to complete or is unable to give possession of an apartment, plot, or building, — Provided that where an allottee does not intend to withdraw from the project, he shall be paid, by the promoter, interest for every month of delay, till the handing over of the possession, at such rate as may be prescribed."

51. Clause 14(a) of the buyer's agreement provides time period for handing over the possession and the same is reproduced below:

"14. POSSESSION

(a) Time of handing over the Possession

Subject to terms of this clause and barring force majeure conditions, and subject to the Allottee having complied with all the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and not being in default under any of the provisions of this Agreement and compliance with all provisions, formalities, documentation etc., as prescribed by the Company. The Company proposes to hand over the possession of the Unit within 36 (Thirty Six) months from the date of start of construction., subject to timely compliance of the provisions of the Agreement by the Allottee. The Allottee agrees and understands that the Company shall be entitled to a grace period of 5 (five) months, for applying and obtaining the completion certificate/occupation certificate in respect of the Unit and/or the Project."

52. At the outset, it is relevant to comment on the preset possession clause of the agreement wherein the possession has been subjected to all kinds of terms and conditions of this agreement, and the complainants not being in default under any provisions of this agreement and compliance with all provisions, formalities and documentation as prescribed by the promoter. The drafting of this clause and incorporation of such conditions are not only vague and uncertain but so heavily loaded in favour of the promoter and against the allottee that even a single default by the allottee in fulfilling formalities and documentations etc. as prescribed by the promoter may make the possession clause irrelevant for the purpose of allottee and the commitment time period for handing over possession loses its meaning. The incorporation of such clause in the buyer's agreement by the promoter is just to evade the liability towards timely delivery of subject unit and to deprive the allottees of their right accruing after delay in possession. This is just to comment as to how the builder has misused his dominant position and drafted such mischievous clause in the agreement and the allottee is left with no option but to sign on the dotted lines.

53. Due date of handing over possession and admissibility of grace period: The promoter has proposed to hand over the possession of the said unit within 36 (thirty-six) months from the date of start of construction and further provided in agreement that promoter shall be entitled to a grace period of 5 months for applying and obtaining completion certificate/occupation certificate in respect of said unit. The date of start of construction is 20.06.2013 as per statement of account dated 21.09.2021. The period of 36 months expired on 20.06.2016. As a matter of fact, the promoter has not applied to the concerned authority for obtaining completion certificate/ occupation certificate within the time limit (36 months) prescribed by the promoter in the buyer's agreement. The promoter has moved the application for issuance of occupation certificate only on 11.02.2019 when the period of 36 months has already expired. As per the settled law one cannot be allowed to take advantage of his own wrong. Accordingly, the benefit of grace period of 5 months cannot be allowed to the promoter at this stage.

54. Admissibility of delay possession charges at prescribed rate of interest: The complainants are seeking delay possession charges at the prescribed rate. Proviso to section 18 provides that where an allottee does not intend to withdraw from the project, he shall be paid, by the promoter, interest for every month of delay, till the handing over of possession, at such rate as may be prescribed and it has been prescribed under rule 15 of the rules. Rule 15 has been reproduced as under:

Rule 15. Prescribed rate of interest- [Proviso to section 12, section 18 and sub-section (4) and subsection (7) of section 19]

- (1) For the purpose of proviso to section 12; section 18; and sub-sections (4) and (7) of section 19, the "interest at the rate prescribed" shall be the State Bank of India highest marginal cost of lending rate +2%.

Provided that in case the State Bank of India marginal cost of lending rate (MCLR) is not in use, it shall be replaced by such benchmark lending rates which the State Bank of India may fix from time to time for lending to the general public.

55. The legislature in its wisdom in the subordinate legislation under rule 15 of the rules has determined the prescribed rate of interest. The rate of interest so determined by the legislature, is reasonable and if the said rule is followed to award the interest, it will ensure uniform practice in all the cases.
56. Taking the case from another angle, the complainants-allottees were entitled to the delayed possession charges/interest only at the rate of Rs.7.50/- per sq. ft. per month of the super area as per clause 16 of the buyer's agreement for the period of such delay; whereas, as per clause 13 of the buyer's agreement, the promoter was entitled to interest @ 24% per annum at the time of every succeeding instalment from the due date of instalment till date of payment on account for the delayed payments by the allottee. The functions of the authority are to safeguard the interest of the aggrieved person, may be the allottee or the promoter. The rights of the parties are to be balanced and must be equitable. The promoter cannot be allowed to take undue advantage of his dominant position and to exploit the needs of the home buyers. This authority is duty bound to take into consideration the legislative intent i.e., to protect the interest of the consumers/allottees in the real estate sector. The clauses of the buyer's agreement entered into between the parties are one-sided, unfair and unreasonable with respect to the grant of interest for delayed possession. There are various other clauses in the buyer's agreement which give sweeping powers to the promoter to cancel the allotment and forfeit the amount paid. Thus, the terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement are ex-facie one-sided, unfair and unreasonable, and the same shall constitute the unfair trade practice on the part of the promoter. These types of discriminatory terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement will not be final and binding.

57. Consequently, as per website of the State Bank of India i.e., <https://sbi.co.in>, the marginal cost of lending rate (in short, MCLR) as on date i.e., 15.12.2021 is 7.30%. Accordingly, the prescribed rate of interest will be MCLR +2% i.e., 9.30%.
58. Rate of interest to be paid by the complainants in case of delay in making payments- The definition of term 'interest' as defined under section 2(za) of the Act provides that the rate of interest chargeable from the allottee by the promoter, in case of default, shall be equal to the rate of interest which the promoter shall be liable to pay the allottee, in case of default. The relevant section is reproduced below:

"(za) "interest" means the rates of interest payable by the promoter or the allottee, as the case may be.

Explanation. — For the purpose of this clause—

- (i) the rate of interest chargeable from the allottee by the promoter, in case of default, shall be equal to the rate of interest which the promoter shall be liable to pay the allottee, in case of default;*
- (ii) the interest payable by the promoter to the allottee shall be from the date the promoter received the amount or any part thereof till the date the amount or part thereof and interest thereon is refunded, and the interest payable by the allottee to the promoter shall be from the date the allottee defaults in payment to the promoter till the date it is paid;"*

59. Therefore, interest on the delay payments from the complainants shall be charged at the prescribed rate i.e., 9.30% by the respondent/promoter which is the same as is being granted to the complainants in case of delay possession charges.

60. On consideration of the documents available on record and submissions made by the parties regarding contravention as per provisions of the Act, the authority is satisfied that the respondent is in contravention of the section 11(4)(a) of the Act by not handing over possession by the due date as per the agreement. By virtue of clause 14(a) of the buyer's agreement executed between the parties on 10.04.2013, the possession of the subject flat was to be delivered within a period of 36 months from the date of start of construction plus 5 months grace period for applying and obtaining the completion certificate/ occupation certificate in respect of the unit and/or the project. The construction was started on 20.06.2013. As far as grace period is concerned, the same is disallowed for the reasons quoted above. Therefore, the due date of handing over possession comes out to be 20.06.2016. Occupation certificate was granted by the concerned authority on 16.07.2019 and thereafter, the possession of the subject flat was offered to the complainants on 18.07.2019. Copies of the same have been placed on record. The authority is of the considered view that there is delay on the part of the respondent to offer physical possession of the subject flat to the complainants as per the terms and conditions of the buyer's agreement dated 10.04.2013 executed between the parties. It is the failure on part of the promoter to fulfil its obligations and responsibilities as per the buyer's agreement dated 10.04.2013 to hand over the possession within the stipulated period.

61. Section 19(10) of the Act obligates the allottee to take possession of the subject unit within 2 months from the date of receipt of occupation certificate. In the present complaint, the occupation certificate was granted by the competent authority on 16.07.2019. The respondent offered the possession of the unit in question to the complainants only on 18.07.2019, so it can be said that the complainants came to know about the occupation certificate only upon the date of offer of possession. Therefore, in the interest of natural justice, the complainants should be given 2 months' time from the date of offer of possession. These 2 months' of reasonable time is being given to the complainants keeping in mind that even after intimation of possession practically they have to arrange a lot of logistics and requisite documents including but not limited to inspection of the completely finished unit but this is subject to that the unit being handed over at the time of taking possession is in habitable condition. It is further clarified that the delay possession charges shall be payable from the due date of possession i.e. 20.06.2016 till the expiry of 2 months from the date of offer of possession (18.07.2019) which comes out to be 18.09.2019.

62. Accordingly, the non-compliance of the mandate contained in section 11(4)(a) read with section 18(1) of the Act on the part of the respondent is established. As such the complainants are entitled to delayed possession at prescribed rate of interest i.e. 9.30% p.a. w.e.f. 20.06.2016 till 18.09.2019 as per provisions of section 18(1) of the Act read with rule 15 of the rules.

H. Directions of the authority

63. Hence, the authority hereby passes this order and issues the following directions under section 37 of the Act to ensure compliance of obligations cast upon the promoter as per the function entrusted to the authority under section 34(f):
- i. The respondent is directed to pay the interest at the prescribed rate i.e. 9.30% per annum for every month of delay on the amount paid by the complainants from due date of possession i.e. 20.06.2016 till 18.09.2019 i.e. expiry of 2 months from the date of offer of possession (18.07.2019). The arrears of interest accrued so far shall be paid to the complainants within 90 days from the date of this order as per rule 16(2) of the rules.

- ii. The respondent shall not charge anything from the complainants which is not the part of the buyer's agreement. The respondent is also not entitled to claim holding charges from the complainants/allottees at any point of time even after being part of the buyer's agreement as per law settled by hon'ble Supreme Court in civil appeal nos. 3864-3889/2020 decided on 14.12.2020.

64. Complaint stands disposed of.

65. File be consigned to registry.
